Try using Confluence

Welcome to Confluence

If you're trying to decide whether Confluence might be useful to you, your office or department, you can try it out here. Bear in mind that what you create here will not be visible to the public, but will be visible to all faculty and staff.

Tip: Take a look around in Confluence. A lot of publicly available pages show you different possibilities for building and displaying content. With the clever use of tables and macros, you can do some nifty things! See for example the FacTS Center pages, the Desire2L earn tutorial pages, or the space for Online quiz and survey options.
