What is Digital Humanities?

Matthew G. Kirschenbaum. "What is Digital Humanities, and What's it Doing in English Departments?"

Anne Burdick, Johanna Drucker, Peter Lunenfeld, Todd Presner, and Jeffrey Schnapp. Digital Humanities. (Link to Full Text).

- a paper copy is available in Bouwhuis Library.
- the final, summative section of this book is available here: A Short Guide to the Digital Humanities).

Debates in the Digital Humanities. This project, initially a paper collection of essays, is now an online, open-access "social reading platform."

- Various responses to the Allington, Brouillette, Golumbia piece, rounded up by Digital Humanities Now, here and here.

Timothy Brennan, "The Digital Humanities Bust," The Chronicle of Higher Education 64 (October 2017). The Chronicle requires a subscription to view this article, so it is Permalinked at ProQuest (login required).

Tools

Omeka for web-based publishing (via Linux).

- Neatline adds geographic and timeline tools to Omeka

Hypercities - "Thick" Mapping

Python Language

"R" Language and Environment

Code Academy

Sharemap - free online Geographic Information System for mapmaking.

OKmap

Overview is a visualization and analysis tool designed for sets of documents

MapStory - storytelling through maps.

Geocaching

For more events on a global scale, check out the Digital Library Federation’s Crowd-Sourced Google Calendar.
Digital Scholarship: Canisius Faculty & Students

- Coptic Scriptorium
  - Rebecca S. Krawiec, (Religious Studies & Theology), Editor and Encoder/annotator, Translator.

- Religion in Western New York
  - Jonathan Lawrence, (Religious Studies & Theology), Creator.

- Przemyslaw Moskal, (Digital Media Arts) New Media, Digital & Gaming Artist.

- Canisius College Video Institute
  - co-directed by Barbara Irwin and Jamie O'Neil (Digital Media Arts).

- Fire & Sword Video Series
  - Canisius College Video Institute Students

- De Imperatoribus Romanis
  - Thomas Banchich, co-founder and contributor.
  - Classics student works

- Build Temples Not Walls
  - Professor Erin Warford Adjunct Professor of Classics

Local (Western New York) Resources (and past events)

- THATCamp 2015 Unconference, D’Youville College
- Digital Humanities at Geneseo
- CUNY Digital Humanities Resource Guide
- Meaningful Gamification Academy - University at Buffalo (SUNY)
- Open Data For All of Buffalo

Digital Scholarship: Other Examples

- Adam Crymble on Distant Reading
- Edward Ayer’s The Valley of the Shadow
- The Perseus Project at Tufts University
- Claudio Saunt's Invasion of America
- Papers of the War Department, 1784-1800
- Art Feminism Group’s Wikipedia Edit-A-Thons.
- Kelly, Rushford, and Gustin, Making the History of 1989
- Projects hosted at Omeka.net.
- Railroads and the Making of Modern America
- Infinite Ulysses

General Resources

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Thematic Area</th>
<th>Resource</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>UNC Charlotte/J. Murrey Atkins Library’s Digital Scholarship Lab</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Digital Humanities Quarterly</td>
<td>Digital Humanities Zotero Group Library</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Library of MS-DOS Games at Archive. org</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Alex Wellerstein’s NukeMap is a nuclear weapons simulator using Google Maps GIS Data.

Historypin: a collaborative, geographic archive of historical photography.

Pox in the City: an interactive, 3D strategy game about nineteenth century urban epidemics and vaccinations.

True Size Of: an interactive map that shows the relative size of nation-states, adjusted on a Mercator.

slavevoyages.org: a database of the Trans-Atlantic slave trade.

Buffalo Architecture Map

Ancient World Mapping Center Conference 2016 (Session recordings via YouTube)

There are plenty of examples of computational literacy analysis at the Stanford Literary Lab.

Create Caribbean: a Research Institute at Dominica State College, supporting digital projects in Caribbean History.

Digital Mitford: Online scholarly edition of the works of Mary Russell Mitford. Also source for learning TEI/XML for literary study.

Six Degrees of Sir Francis Bacon: Digital depiction and analysis of Sir Francis Bacon’s social connections.

[Homer Multitext](http://www homermultitext.com): Exploring the “evolution and the resulting multiformality” of Homer’s Iliad and Odyssey, in historical contexts.

James Monroe Museum Political Cartoons: Undergraduate Student Project, built in Omeka. Digitized political cartoons with historical context.

Urban Humanities Initiative at UCLA: Incorporating humanities interpretive approaches and urban design practices.

American Panorama: a digital atlas series created at the University of Richmond’s Digital Scholarship Lab.

SNCC Digital Gateway: digital exhibition and archive exploring the history of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, a major organization within the African American civil rights movement of the 1960s and 1970s.

Hear UR: Student Podcasting at University of Rochester.

Migration Trail: using digital, dynamic maps, video, audio, and social media to tell immigration stories.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Journal of Digital Humanities</th>
<th>Play the Past: Cultural Heritage and Games</th>
<th>University of Virginia Library Scholar’s Lab</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Wendy Hui Kyong Chun, Dark Side of the Digital Humanities Part I</td>
<td>Roy Rosenzweig Center for History and New Media</td>
<td>Introduction to Mapping and GIS at QGIS</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miriam Posner’s Blog</td>
<td>The Programming Historian</td>
<td>Ehistory</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>William G. Thomas’s Blog</td>
<td>Digital Historians</td>
<td>Digital Humanities Now</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Google Cultural Institute</td>
<td>The Getty Search Gateway</td>
<td>The British Library (on Flickr)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>An Excellent Introduction to Mapping and GIS</td>
<td>Digital Library Confederation’s Digital Events Calendar</td>
<td>The Digital Journal Syllabus (frequently has DH-related pedagogical resources.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>HASTAC (Humanities, Arts, Sciences, and Technology Alliance and Collaboratory)</td>
<td>NINES (Networked Infrastructure for Nineteenth-Century Electronic Scholarship)</td>
<td>Center for Digital Research in the Humanities (University of Nebraska-Lincoln.)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>dhcommons.org</td>
<td>Digital Humanities at UCLA</td>
<td>Digital Humanities Initiative at Buffalo (UB)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Stanford Digital Tools Humanities</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>